Excellence is bringing a state of mind to facthood.

Martin demonstrated this the other day.

At the start, he "popped a willy" (meaning he pulled his 10-speed back on the rear wheels) and left perhaps sixth or seventh in a Folk Fete bike field or more than a dozen 10-to-14 year olds.

He was behind in the early stretch around the first, second, third, and final corner. But the leader went wide at the last turn and Martin held his turn tight.

A quick kick on the straight away and he came in pulling away.

Martin won the race, and it was a good one, on the bike he lost at the tennis courts a few weeks ago, but which turned up with minor damage in the cemetery. It's still a good bike.

He collected another trophy, of course. He has a shelf and bulletin board accumulating trophies, ribbons and stuff in diving, swimming, track, baseball, tennis, and now cycling, most firsts, some seconds.

Point is he said he was going to win that race. He had looked at the trophies on display downtown.

He did.

Look out world, here's another one.

116-116-116

The risks are greater for the youngsters whose written about than for the older generation cheering him or her on. If they are reputed to be winners, the pressure builds to keep winning.

Leslie also knows that. She was runner-up in the Folk Fete queen contest this year and last, and she's only entering her junior year in high school next fall.

The great thing about kids like these is they aren't particularly self-conscious about winning or losing. They are learning the "stop watch mentality" of running against a standard, not against someone else.

It works for them. It is important to put standards high, but not ethereal. It conquers fear, creates confidence, and literally makes excellence fun.

I learned this by accident at age 5. I jumped off a pier in a Midwestern lake over my head.

Instead of screaming for help, which would have bothered people, and I was not so far out I would go under without being seen, I went to bottom and kicked toward shore each time I went up for air. Tadpoles know as much, I imagine.

In a few minutes, I was standing on the beach.

Martin and Les are on to one of the secrets of life.

Car Hits Rail, Lott Girl Dies

SPECTACULAR DISPLAY--Monday night's electrical storm unleashed some fancy displays of lightning and Larry Schiller was on hand to record it with his camera. This is the scene from the west end of the mall looking toward the courthouse.

Funeral For 1975 Graduate Held In Gym

A Lott girl was killed early Saturday morning as she and her companion were returning home after visiting the Cameron Folk Fete. The accident happened on the appraoch to the Elm Creek bridge north of Cameron.

Dead on arrival at St. Edward Hospital was Vickey Lynn Blakeney, 17. She was apparently thrown from the car upon impact. The driver, Cody Hugh McBay of Houston, was treated and released from the hospital.

According to investigating DPS Officer Don Wardlaw, McBay's vehicle was headed north and crossed the southbound lane and hit the railing of the bridge, going through the railing and landing in the ditch.

McBay was arrested and charged with driving while intoxicated. He was released Sunday on $500 bond. Sheriff Carl Black said other charges would be filed this week.

Funeral for Miss Blakeney was held Sunday in the Rosebud-Lott High School gym in Travis with the Rev. Lee Roy Williams, the Rev. Calvin Prince, and the Rev. George Hearne officiating. Burial was in Clover Hill Cemetery in Lott.

Miss Blakeney was a cheerleader at Rosebud-Lott High School for four years, was football sweetheart, and was a member of the school's chapter of the National Honor Society. She recently was graduated from the high school.

Surviving are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Huey Blakeney of Lott; a brother, Randall Gene Blakeney of Lott; paternal grandmother, Mrs. E. R. Blakeney of Dallas; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. White of Martin Mill.

Trustees Hear Proposed School Finance Plan

School trustees heard Supt. Buddy Dulin explained the new proposed school finance plan, which will mean more state money for the schools, at regular meeting Monday night.

Supt. Dulin emphasized that the figures he used are not official and are subject to change before final figures are out.

The new school bill just passed by the Legislature will also affect the number of teachers for schools, using a "weighted personnel" approach. Dulin said Cameron may gain more personnel units according to the plan.

In other business, plans for renovation of the gym were shown as drawn up by the architect. The plans included sciencelabs on the second floor and classrooms on the first floor, along with plans for revamping the boys and girls shower and dressing rooms.

Dulin said the architect is to draw up specifications that can be used in calling for bids for the work.

The board approved Dulin's recommendation to hire Jessie White as teacher for elementary grades. Board also named Dulin as textbook custodian and authorized representatives of the school lunchroom program.

Supt. Dulin said the school could expect more funds for transportation next school year, up to 62 1/2 percent more.

Two Charged For Possession Of Marijuana

Charges of possession of marijuana and possession of a prohibited weapon were filed on two suspects after their arrest by Temple Police Friday night.

Out on bonds totaling $3,000 each were Charles Ray Westbrook and Jimmy Edwards, both of Cameron.

Acting police chief Kent Butler said the men's car was found to contain a large amount of marijuana. The Cameron police had staked the car out at the Honey Bee Club but the men escaped and were arrested in Temple.

Arresting officers were Joe Cottle, Maurice Lowery, Ed Sexton Jr., and Butler.

Police also investigated a shooting earlier Friday night at Mary's Place on South Jefferson, when Mary Filmore reportedly shot Mary Jo Blalock in the abdomen.

Blalock was moved to Scott and White Hospital in Temple where her condition was termed satisfactory. Filmore was placed in Milam County jail. She was charged in county court with aggravated assault.

Arresting officers were Billy Sparks, Sexton, F. M. Jones, and Butler.

CDA Awards Bids For Fences, Asphalt Courts

The Community Development Agency has awarded bids for fencing for the new tennis courts and playground and also the asphalt for the courts.

Low bidder for the tennis court fence was Allied Fence Co. of Waco-Temple at $3,450. Other bids were $4,056.40, Milam Fence Co. of Rockdale; $3,990 for Cen-Tex Fence Co. of Temple; and $15,350 from Sears and Roebuck of Cameron.

Bid for the playground fence went to Allied Fence Co. for a bid of $7,897. Other bids included Cen-Tex Fence $8,657, and Milam Fence Co. $8,779.70.

For the asphalt for tennis courts bid went to Bandas Industries of Temple at $5,536.80. Other bid was from Young Brothers at $13,800.

The cyclone fences will enclose four tennis courts to be built at the north end of the City Park and for the playground in the O. J. Thomas school area.

Present for the bid opening were Miss Mildred Thonrton, A. E. Matula, A. W. McCullin, and secretary, Mrs. Marvin Young.

Thousands Throng To Folk Fete

Hot June weather did nothing to deter the thousands of visitors who flocked to Folk Fete '75 over the weekend, as a parade led events Saturday and bicycle races headlined Friday's activities. Highlight of Sunday's events was an armadillo race won by an entry from Buckholts.

Hundreds crammed into the National Guard Armory Friday night for the dance with music by The Moods of Country Music, and other crowds joined Jerry Haisler's Melody Five Saturday night and Vrazel's Band Sunday night for other dances.

Good food was available at ethnic food booths and arts and crafts displays also drew their share of the crowds.

The Saturday parade drew 60 entries, along with some 25 horses and riders. A reviewing stand on the mall held the judges, and trophies were awarded as follows:

Out of town entries--first, Giddings, Pioneer Log Cabin, Steve Zapalac; second--Antique cars, 3 entries., M. T. Morris family; third, Georgetown Chamber of Commerce, float "Miss Georgetown," Miss Debbie Williamson.

Local entries--first, Fleur de lis Garden Club float; second, Farm Bureau Women's Committee, float; third, German Folk Dancers, float.

Clowns--Bevo and Vevo, Melanie Crook and Donna Hundle.

Decorated bicycles--Bicycle Built for Two, Grover McCullin and Trevor Turner.

"Most Fun" entry--Currey House Moving.

Antique car--Lone Star Beer Model T Ford.

Entry coming the greatest distance--The Tackatts of Dallas.

An Appreciation Trophy went to Yoe High School Band for participation in various phases of the Folk Fete.

CHILI COOKOFF

In Sunday's chili cookoff, Buddy Wernli of Thorndale won first place with an entry called "Hilly Billy Chili;" second place, Leroy Tiemann of Thorndale with "Mr. Poor Boy;" third place, Mr. and Mrs. David Westerman of Thorndale with "South of the Border Chili;" and fourth place, John Goodson, Charles Goodson, and Joe Goodson, all of Giddings, with "Hill Billy Chili."

The Goodsons also took first place in the showmanship category.

ARMADILLO RACE

An entry called "Flash" and owned and entered by Carl Tomascik of Buckholts, won first place in the armadillo race, one of the most entertaining entries in this year's Fete.

Carl also got the trophy for traveling the farthest to enter the races.

Flash tried to escape after winning the semi-finals heat but was recaptured and went on to win the trophy. Many spectators aided trainers to recapture armadillos who decided to leave the whole affair and go back to earth. In fact, one armadillo started digging a hole in the middle of the race course.

BICYCLE RACES

In Friday's bicycle-tricycle races, Meredith Moseley won first in the tricycle race with Aaron Duderstadt second and Joseph Daniel Browder III third.

In the bicycle race for ages 6-9 Monica Kelm was first, Mike Broadus second, and Velvet Dodson, third. In the 10-13 age group Martin Luecke won first., Glenn Glaser, second, and Daniel McDaniel, third. In the 14-over group John Krall won first, Randy Miller, second, and Jon Mondrik, third.

Commissioners Have Short Agenda

Milam County commissioners meeting in regular session Monday morning voted to deny request from the Bar-1-Bar to sell alcoholic beverages for two hours extra past the closing time.

Commissioners also voted to accept the resignation of Wayne Brinkley as constable of Pct. 5, voted to pay Rockdale $700 in unpaid fire calls for 1974, and approved thepublic weigher bond for Ronnie Bryan.

City Officials Name Butler Police Chief

City officials appointed a new police chief and rescinded a controversial resolution at a special meeting called Tuesday evening.

Sgt. Kent Butler, who has been serving as acting police chief since May 30, was appointed chief following a recommendation by Mayor Gene Blake. Vote was unanimous except for councilman Lincoln Mondrik, who abstained.

The resolution in question was one passed several weeks ago and discussed at last Tuesday's session of the council. The motion called for a committee to take care of street work, making recommendations to the council. In its language it would have made even the grading of gravel streets subject to approval by the committee and council.

Mayor Blake recommended that the motion be rescinded and the committee left standing to pass on public requests for all street projects that affect the city.

During discussion, Council Ernest Moore read an amended form of the motion, but Mayor Blake said he saw no need for such a motion at all, that the street department should be allowed to continue its duties as outlined in the city charter.

Council Gene Lumpkin, who had offered the original motion, made the motion to rescind the resolution.

The street committee, which includes Lawrence Zotz, Jan Luecke, and Ernest Moore, will function until the end of this budget year.

Defensive Driving Course Offered

A defensive driving course will be offered in Milam County if at least ten members of a club or organization want it at a time convenient to all concerned, according to the Central Texas Council of Governments.

Sponsored by CTCOG, the course is available for presentation to governmental, civic, private, or public groups anywhere in the CTCOG seven-county region. For details contact the CTCOG Traffic Safety Office at 817-939-1801, or write Box 729, Belton, TX 76513.

4-H'ers Win Places In State Contests

Two 4-H teams placed second in the State 4-H Roundup held June 3 and 4 at Texas A&M University. Fifteen Milam County 4-H'ers qualified for state this year, according to Kenneth Waites, assistant county agent.

The team of Gayle Patschke and Michelle Rodenbeck of Thorndale 4-H won second in Safety and Emergency Preparedeness. The Entomology team won second also and includes Curtis Wise, Wayne Elley, and Rosemary Ehler, allof Cameron 4-H.

Other placings were Brenda Westerman and Suzanne Sims of Thorndale who placed fourth in the Cooperative Demonstration; Mary Lee Graham of Thorndale was third in Natural Resources. The dairy judging team which includes Peter Riola, Gery HOllas, Leroy Stephens, and Carl Tomascik won eighth place. Carl Tomascik was tenth high individual.

Others entering the show were Tami Gray of Thorndale, Public Speaking; and Rebecca Riola, Cameron, was in the food show.

OVER IT WENT--This Coca Cola truck was being unloaded from one side and workers were surprised when the street gave way and the truck gently fell over on its side. No one was injured in the freak accident.

Anticipate And Adapt...

The 1975 valedictorian at Georgetown quoted two familiar writers in recent commencement ceremonies there.

Said Terrell Benold, quoting James Russell Lowell:

Once to every man and nation comes the moment to decide.
In the strife of truth and falsehood,
For the good or evil side.
Then it is the brave man chooses while the coward stands aside,
Till the multitudes make virtue of the faith they had denied.
New occasions teach new duties,
Time makes ancient good uncouth;
They must upward still and onward,
Who would keep abreast of truth.

And another, which we particularly like, because it is a Texan saying it:

"Any person who has not changed his mind about something in the past 5 or 10 years is either dead or stupid."

--J. Frank Dobie

In our opinion, no amount of goodness can justify maintaining principles which by age become prejudice, not just in race, but in attitude about a 21st century which is upon us with a billion particles of information we knew nothing of a decade ago.

What Dobie says is more true than when he wrote it. Life is change. The measure of men and nations is how they anticipate and adapt.

For Street Improvement...

Cameron is among Texas cities receiving grants for improvement of streets, Cameron receiving $100,000.

Concentration of this funding will be in the 22nd Street and Industrial Blv. areas, connecting through highways in north Cameron.

It is another beginning in street improvements around town, an issue which the City Council is now considering for future improvements.

Cameron has resolved just about all of its civic problems except school buildings and streets. The rest is rapidly closing around these areas, which cry out for solution beyond patchwork.

As new construction continues in housing, the need for better facilities in schools and more streets will become greater issues for council and school board to pursue.

We congratulate the city and Texas Highway Dept. for working this $100,000 project into the street improvement program of this county seat.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

NEW OIL SEARCH LAGS AS CONGRESS DAWDLES

Senator Paul J. Fannin (Ariz.)". . .The Congress has failed to produce a comprehensive national energy policy, and the result has been a climate of uncertainty and the consequent reluctance of the private sector in invest which has all but crippled the energy industry. . .I ask unanimous consent that the testimony of. . .four distinguished witnesses be printed in the Record." (A few excerpts follow):

'We have just polled the major oil producing areas in our nation and I think this committee would be most interested in comments elicited from both the independent and major oil company segments of the oil industries:

Murphy Oil Corporation (Arkansas-Louisiana). . .no bidding on offshore properties. All expenditures under study. . .

Amoco. . .28 well program for Big Horn Basin, Wyoming. . .cancelled entirely. . . (Gulf Coast). . .no exploration work. . .

Chevron. . .5 well program in Utah. . .cancelled entirely.

Cardinal Petroleum Company. Have cancelled drill pipe order--between 60 and 70 idle drilling rigs stacked in Rocky Mountain states.

El Paso National Gas Company (West Texas). . .15,000 tons of oil country tubular goods in inventory put up for immediate sale. No further inventories will be carried.

Sun Oil Company. . .17 large land drilling rigs have been idled and stacked due to cancelled contracts. . .

New Acts Ease Doctors' Slowdowns

A threatened slowdown of some doctors in major cities in protest to rising medical malpractice insurance costs was eased with signing of two new legislative acts.

Texas Medical Association's House of Delegates went on record against the work stoppage and said the short-term laws should be given a chance to work.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe urged immediate start of a study of the overall problem by a blue-ribbon panel of 18.

Former University of Texas Law School Dean W. Page Keeton was designated chairman of the Medical Professional Liability Study Commission established by one of the new acts.

The bill would also create a pool or joint underwriting association to issue policies up to $300,000.

Another would authorize the State Board of Insurance to set malpractice liability rates and cut the statute of limitation on filing of suits to two years.

Both acts will expire in 1977. A bill pushed by doctors and hospitals to place a $500,000 limit on claims in malpractice actions failed to clear the House of Representatives.

The Commission will report its findings and long range recommendations by Dec. 1, 1976.

Legislature Closes

Texas has a new $654 million public school finance act and authorization for a Public Utilities Commission to regulate telephone rates and services and to control other utilities (except gas) in rural areas.

Cities may elect to come under the Commission after two years with utilities other than telephones. Gas will be regulated by the state Railroad Commission.

Both the school finance and utilities acts were among the last major pieces of legislation approved by the 64th Legislature which ended its session at midnight June 2.

A record $12.1 billion appropriations bill passed by lawmakers on final night of the session has been certified by Comptroller Bob Bullock as within anticipated income.

Briscoe has until June 22 to decide which of the legislature's acts he will sign and which he will veto.

Hearing Recessed

A Railroad Commission hearing on phasing out natural gas as a boiler fuel has been recessed for 30 days after three days of testimony and opening statements.

Some spokesmen said converting plants to other fuels would be extremely costly.

Others urged that any phase-out should be "orderly" and with attention to what effect the changeover might have on rising consumer rates.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

While it may be true that a bunch of writers went on strike one time and nobody noticed, I'm still having difficulty realizing that doctors have now taken up the strike weapon. But it's true of course, as everybody has been reading about the big city doctors who are taking only ememgency cases until something is done about the high price they have to pay for mal-practice insurance.

It just occurred to me that while they're on strike they might use some of their spare time to weed their ranks of the people who're causing their high insurance rates--their mal-practicing members. No use following the legal profession's custom of generally not dis-barring any member until he's spent at least two months in the penitentiary. This is in contrast to the writing profession, which has no standards for admittance and no by-laws for kicking anybody out. Makes no difference, you can continue writing in or out of jail. Sew up a story with a sponge left inside and nobody sues you.

But speaking of mal-practice insurance, I was just wondering, you reckon the next thing somebody is going to think of is insurance and mal-teaching? You know, here you spend all that time and money sending a kid to school and sometimes he comes out about as ignorant as he went in. Some of them even have trouble reading the funny papers. Looks like it might be a clear case of mal-teaching and there's bound to be some teachers who ought to protect themselves against a damage suit. After all, the teaching profession doesn't have any by-laws either for barring incompetents. You ever hear of a teacher losing his or her certificate because a pupil graduated without learning to read? And that's just in high schools. Colleges this past week turned out thousands of graduates who were certified as having passed courses in a foreign language and not 2 percent of them can spent two years studying French for example and if it weren't for the pictures, they couldn't even understand a French postcard.

Speaking of insurance, do you know where a person can buy some insurance against higher insurance rates?

Yours faithfully
J. A.

SBA Alters Standards For Loans

A proposal seeking to adjust upward those definitions of small business expressed in terms of dollars to account for the effects of inflation was disclosed today by Fred S. Neumann, regional director for the U. . Small Business Administration, in Dallas.

In the proposal, which has been published in the Federal Register, Neumann said the rapid acceleration of inflation during the past several years had added emphasis to the fact that many of its size standards expressed in terms of dollars have become distroted.

Under the proposal, wholesale firms will be considered small with annual receipt from $9.5 million to $22 million depending on the industry The existing regulation restricts receipt from $5 million to $15 million.

Some Grain Sorghum Prospects Look Gloomy

By Bill McCutchen

Two things have developed that make grain sorghum prospects a little less optimistic recently.

First some of the earlier grain sorghum has considerable "physiological damage." This damage occured in the early stages of plant growth, the first 35 days, and is now evident in many seed heads being blank in the lower 1/2 to 1/4 of earlier heads.

This condition is evident every year to a much lower degree, but sugarcane aphid damage plus two freezes on the young sorghums have cut yields in some of the older grain sorghum considerably.

Forty to fifty percent grain loss has been observed in some fields. Wayne Lawrence in the Tracy community was the first to call this condition to my attention.

Another problem, even more severe, has all but destroyed grain sorghum crop hopes in some of the overflow land in the Little River bottom. This condition is not evident in casual observation, but when the stalks are cut and the prebost seed head is examined, the see d head is rotten.

This condition exists in 50% or more of the plants inspected in some fields and it will be a little while before we will know how wide spread the seed head rotting will be on the overflow sorghum. Whether this condition is due to mud or time under water is not known, nor is it known how extensive the damage is in other overflow fields.

Well drained, upland grain sorghum is looking very good in most instances and upland fields are expectedto make a good grain sorghum crop. Sorghum midge are not causing any problems at present and I expect that most of the crop will be out of danger before damaging midge numbers are present. It will probably be necessary to spray wet areas such as terrace channels and such, as these areas are far behind the rest of the sorghum in the same field.

Sunflower Prospects

As with the grain sorghum crop, sunflower prospects are both good and bad depending upon wheater or not it has had wet feet.

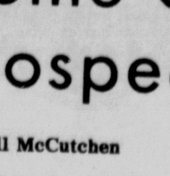
In the areas of overflow and wet spots, the sunflowers are down. The stalks didn't break but the heavy heads pulled the roots out of the waterlogged soil and it is on the ground.

Upland sunflowers and river bottom crops that didn't stand in water look good, however.

Thus far, spraying for the sunflower head moth has been unnecessary in most fields. Head moth millers are hard to find and beneficials are abundant in unsprayed fields. In fields that have been sprayed, applications will have to be continued.

This is one of several things that plant breeders have not satisfactorily worked out in present sunflower varieties. The crop blooms, and is susceptable over too long a time to the head moth. If you intend to protect the crop with insecticides it may well take 7 to 8 applications at 5 day intervals because of uneven heading and maturity and that can be expensive.

TEXAS TALK



By Skip Hobbs

Consumers are better beef eaters than ever. Authorities now are pretty well in agreement that per capita consumption of beef in 1975 will be very close to 125 pounds. Ten percent more than an average year. Reasons for the increase in beef eating are obvious: the over-supply created during the past several months is furnishing record numbers of slaughter cattle; retail prices on beef products have pretty well stabilized at levels comparable with 1973 costs; and Americans haven't lost their appreciation for a good steak. Not only is the consumer coming out ahead with the combination of ample supply and good prices, but the cattle industry appears to be on the road to economic recovery. Cow-calf men (those producing baby calves) probably still have a rough year ahead since the experts say there is an unresolved oversupply of mother cows, but most other segments of the feeding industry are optimistic than 1975 will be the year of the cattle comeback.

Health Rules For Horses In Contests

With the vacation season at hand, many Texas families are making plans to compete in various horse shows and contests.

Health recommendations for horses become more important as owners make plans to travel to these activities, reminds Dr. James Armstrong, veterinarian for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Certain requirements are necessary to obtain a valid health certificate to move these animals, Armstrong adds.

1. The Texas Animal Health Commission requires that all equines entering or originating in Texas intended for exhibition purposes must be accompanied by an official health certificate. All equines must be vaccinated for Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis (VEE). The vaccination information on the official health certificate will include: (a) date of vaccination; and (b) complete identification of the animal.

2. Certain of the larger Texa s shows--and others outside of Texas--are now requiring a negative Agar Gel Immuno Diffusion Test (AGID) for Equine Infectious Anemia (EIA) proor to entry in the show. Prospective exhibitors should check with show authorities about specific health requirments.

Individuals who plan to ship equines out of Texas will find that many states now require proof of a negative AGID-EIA test by a federally-approved laboratory. This test can be done by the Texas Veterinay Medical Diagnostic Laboratory at College Station.

Summer Heat Brings Out Many Lawn Problems

Summer means hot weather in Texas along with outdoor sports and long lazy days. It also brings lawn problems.

"Lawn problems can cause many headaches for homeowners unless they are accurately diagnosed and properly treated before they become severe," points out Dr. Richard L. Duble, turfgrass specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Dry spots, thin turf and weeds are symptoms of improper watering, fertilizing, and mowing practices," notes Duble. "Before applying a chemical to correct lawn problems, be sure that recommended cultural practices are followed."

Drouth stress most often occurs in mid-summer and shows up as wilted, discolored turf. Watering schedules should be adjusted to wet the soil to a depth of four to six inches, and only when the grass shows symptoms of drouth stress. Mowing heights might also be raised one-half inche to improve drouth tolerance in mid-summer.

"Lack of nitrogen or iron often creates a lawn problem. Grass with a nitrogen deficiency may have a pale color and be heavily infested with weeds," explains the Texas A&M University System specialist. "Abundant seedheads are another symptom of nitrogen deficienty. A light application of a soluble nitrogen fertilizer will improve the lawn's appearance."

Grass leaves that have yellow and green stripes parallel to the leaf margins may be deficient in iron. An application of iron sulfate or iron chelate at six ounces per1,000 square feet will usually solve this problem, says Duble.

If a St. Augusine lawns has symptoms similar to nitrogen or iron deficiency but does not respond to applications of either material, St. Augustine Decline (S.A.D.) should be suspected. Close examination of turf infected with S.A.D. shows green and yellow blotches on the leaves.

Good maintenance practices should be continued where S.A.D. is a problem. Also, Floratam, a new St. Augustine grass variety which is resistant to S.A.D., may bespriged into the infected area.

"Chinch bugs and white grubs are two insects that cause lawn problems," points out the specialist. "The symptoms are similar to that of drouth stress and insects should be identified prior to initiating chemical treatment."

Adult chinch bugs are about one-sixth inch long with black bodies and white wings folded over the back. To find chinch bugs, sink a can with both ends open into the ground and fill the can with water. The bugs will float to the surface in three to five minutes.

White grubs are the larval stage of the May or June beetle and are about one inch long with white bodies and dark heads. They are usually found in a curled or half-mood position several inches below the ground. White grubs can destroy the entire root ystem of lawn grasses so that the turf can be rolled like a carpet.

Chinch bugs can be controlled with applications of diazinon, Trithion, Ethion, or Aspon and white grubs with chlordane or diazinon.

Brown patch disease is another problem with St. Augustine grass, adds Duble.The disease is caused by a fungus that attacks St. Augustine lawns each fall. Brown patch can be distinguished from drouth and chinch bugs damage by the emergency of new growth in the center of the diseased circle which gives the diseased area a doughnut-shaped appearance. Brown patch should be treated with a fungicide when it first appears; several applications at 10-day intervals may be needed.

"The best way to keep a healthy, attractive lawn," advises Duble, "is through proper mowing, watering, and fertilization. These regular maintenance practices allow you to keep a check on lawn conditions so that you'll be able to detect a problemearly should one develop."

Wheat Record Anticipated Despite Drop

AUSTIN--Dry conditions on the Texas High Plains have forced winter wheat projections to 137.5 million bushels, a decline of 2.5 million bushels below the April forecast.

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said this figure still exceeds the previous record of 116.9 million bushels set in 1947.

Most of the production decrease occurred on dryland acreage in the High Plains, the state's leading wheat producer.

"Though the region has had some spring rain, low humidity and high winds have depleted available surface moisture," White said. He added that irrigated acreage is developing well.

It's Dairy Month... Pecan Prospects... Crops Continue to Progress.

This is Dairy Month in Texas. Now is the time to enjoy an extra glass of milk every day; dairymen hope you enjoy an extra glass of milk every day of the year.

Texas is in the top 10 in dairy states in the nation. Texas ranks ninth in total milk production, and it also ranks ninth in milk cows that have calved. The dairy industry is an integral part of the Texas agricultural economy. Milk production in 1974 totaled more than three billion pounds.

Most of the state's dairy production is in the eastern half. Hopkins County is the state's leading county in milk production. Other counties in the top 10 include Erath, Wise, Johnson, Grimes, Comanche, Cooke, Franklin, Archer, and Wood.

The top 10 counties in milk cows that have calved are Hopkins, Erath, Wise, Grimes, Johnson, Comanche, Cooke, McLennan, Wood, and Franklin.

Dairy producers through the years have consistently taken the lead in producing a top quality product. They have also been leaders in developing marketing programs.

As is the case with all agricultural producers, dairymen are caught in a cost-price squeeze. They have watched their costs of production skyrocket while the price they have received has not kept pace.

As a result, dairymen are continuing to search for new ways to cut costs of production and to increase efficiency. However, most dairymen are now doing about all that can be done in those areas.

Meanwhile, you can help the dairy industry as well as helping yourself to better health by drinking an extra glass of milk every day this month, and every day throughout the rest of the year.

TENT CATERPILLAR, walnut caterpillar, or webworms are causing damage to pecan trees and other trees in many parts of central and south central Texas. But in spite of this and recent wet weather, the pecan crop continues to make progress.

A survey was made recently of the pecan producing areas in West Texas by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Pecan trees in commercial orchards in that area total 401,900. Commercial orchards included in the survey each had 20 trees or more.

The 401,900 trees are on 7,520 acres in 19 West Texas counties. This represents an average of 53.4 trees per acre.

Growers intend to plant about 1,250 trees during the rest of this year. Virtually all West Texas pecan trees are under some type of irrigation.

Counties involved in the survey are Andrews, Brewster, Crane, Culberson, Ector, El Paso, Glasscock, Hudspeth, Jeff Davis, Loving, Martin, Midland, Pecos, Presidio, Reeves, Terrell, Upton, Ward, and Winkler.

WHILE COTTON AND SORGHUM planting for the state is nearing completion, harvest of wheat and oats is well underway. Rains have delayed harvest to some extent. Harvest thus far is only about half that compared to a year ago for wheat. Oat harvest is less than a fourth completed; a year ago about half that crop had been harvested. Flax harvest is complete.

Rice planting is finished; soybean planting has passed the halfway mark; peanut planting is also more than 50 per cent complete.

APRIL MILK PRODUCTION throughout the state has declined three per cent from a year ago, but is slightly above the production of the previous month.

Milk production per cow averaged 835 pounds during April. Nationwide, milk production averaged 906 pounds per cow. Milk cows on farms are estimated to be down one half of one per cent from a year ago. The April milk-feed price ratio was one per cent below March, while the ratio was 10 per cent below a year ago.

Market Report

Meat prices are rising again, above last week's levels.

With the upward trend in prices affecting beef, pork, and poultry, the only apparent specials this week are "occasional good buys on beef cuts, such as chuck roasts and steaks, getting special attention in some markets, along with ground beef, liver, and stew meats," Mrs. Gwendolyne Clyatt said.

At pork counters, "good values may be found on ham portions, smoked picnics, frankfurters, and liver," the consumer marketing information specialist added.

"More chicken is bought in the summertime, so specials on this product are few.

Mrs. Clyatt, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, also reported varying egg prices. She advised consumers to compare prices and sizes before buying.

"Medium-size eggs are providing cost appealing buys," she added.

At produce counters, items in good supply at most economical prices include oranges, bananas, strawberries, and pineapples.

Also cantaloupe, honeydew melons, avocados, and lemons--along with cabbage, cucumbers, red and russet potatoes, radishes, and green onions.

The Rev. Darryl Proffit was with us Thursday, May 15 and gave the message on "Peace" taken from John 14:27, "Peace I Leave with you; my own peace I give you."

Special music was furnished by Mrs. Louise Archer, Mrs. Sharon McCullin, and Mrs. Denton House. Mrs. McCullin sang "Make Me a Blessing", and Mrs. Archer rendered "Farther Along."

Katie and Kristie, little daughters of Brother Proffit, also sang for our patients.

On May 21, Mrs. Nelson Green visited with us and brought us up to dat e on Current Events. Some of the topics she covered were of an American Revolutionary Rally held at Charlotte, N C. by Dr. Billy Graham and attended by President and Mrs. Gerald Ford; about the Vietnam refugees and their search for lost relatives; and about Paul Crume's hunt for a windmill that he might purchase.

Sports-Murray-Go-Round

By Tom Murray

COWTOWN KID:

When spending childhood days back in Velasco, hard by the Brazos just before it empties into the Gulf of Mexico, I came to realize my family had little in the way of material things.

Those were depression days and nobody had anything. But, we had pride: In our family. In our state. In our country. And, that was even before the heroics of World War II. We even had pride in our scraggly little old town. Everybody knew those Cowtown Kids (Velasco) were tougher than the city slickers from across the river in Freeport. (Population 1600).

One other thing we had, and Redblooded American Kids of today still have, was an absolute belief in our heroes. We appreciated their ability to soar above the multitude. And, naturally, we dreamed of someday walking in their shoes.

Those were the days before television and very much radio. Hometown sports were Big, Big, Big! Since the Major Leagues were a million miles away, in a place called New York, we could get completely high just thinking about the Texas League Houston Buffs, or Southwest Conference football, 63 miles away down that chug-holed shell road. And, Houston! Ah, there was a City! One hundred and fifty thousand people were crammed into its city limit. We had somewhere between 200 and 800, including the cows. And, there were no city limits.

Therefore, I grew up in a love affair with Sam Houston's town. While my family preferred the Chronical as its avenue to what was going on in the Big City, I secretly craved the morning Houston Post my grand-daddy always saved for me.

The reason? Lloyd Gregory, my Number One Hero, wrote a sparkling Post sports column so interesting , so alive, that even kids loved it. I carried "Looking 'em Over" around with me to read and re-read. I dreamed of one day writing sports ". . .just like Lloyd Gregory."

FAN LETTER FROM A HERO

Gregory, if memory serves, had a weekly column in which he carried letters from his readers. I always wanted to write him a fan letter but could not work up the courage. Once, when playing football for Freeport High School, I took exception to a putdown of our team by a letter writer Mr. Gregory published. I was embarrassed to reveal my prejudice so hustled off an anonymous letter to LG, asking if he could point out that readers' obvious error. To my astonishment, he ran the letter--agreed with its contents--and dubbed it "From a Freeport Reader."

Well, the reason for this entire prose is thatthings have come full circle. And, I want to share it with you.

Last week I received a fan letter from a reader who liked a column I did on a Late Forties Joe Davis recruting sashay into west Texas that netted Rice a solid football player in Jim Timmons. It read:

"Dear Tom: Your story . . .'A Recruiting Story' was one of the best football yarns I have ever read. Keep up the good work." Signed, Lloyd Gregory"

At 76, and in retirement, that great, great man still possesses the sparkle and class which enthralled that little old kid back there in Velasco 35 years ago. Thanks, Mr. Gregory, you are something else.

Hoelscher Guides Cubs To State

BRENHAM

Coach Paul Hoelscher, former Cameron High School athlete and the son of Herman Hoelscher of Cameron, guided his Brenham Cubs into their second state baseball tournament in the past three years.

Under coach Hoelscher, the Cubs have won bi-district in all of his three years at the helm, and in 1973 they were class 3A runnerup to La Grange. The year before that he was coach at LaGrange, when the Leopards also won the bi-district title.

This season's Cubs carry a 27-7 record into the state tourney, beating Taylor and Orange Stark for bi-district and regional honors, respectively.

Brenham will be making its fifth appearance in the state tourney, winning the championship in 1970.

NEWS ABOUT GOLF

GREATER DISTANCE AND ACCURACY

A recent survey of playing and teaching professional golfers confirms that graphite shafted golf clubs can give the golfer longer drives, better control and easier swing.

The survey showed that 82 percent of the golf pros questioned said that graphite shafted clubs improved golfing performance. Of these pros, 58 percent cited increased distance as the major benefit and 36 percent pointed to greater accuracy.

Graphite increases distance by taking the weight out of the shaft and putting it into the head. And it improves accuracy and stamina by letting the golfer swing a lighter club — with better feel and quicker shaft recovery.

A superior graphite shaft, DynaTorque, manufactured by Babcock & Wilcox, performs well because of added consistency — consistent torsional properties, weight, balance point, tip strength and flex — prerequisites for consistent fairway performance.

For more information on graphite golf shafts write or call (216) 823-0500 Fred Carstens, Babcock & Wilcox Advanced Composites Department, P. O. Box 419B, 1551 S. Linden Avenue, Alliance, Ohio 44601 or ask your golf shop about DynaTorque golf shafts.

HOW GOLF STARTED

Scotland is known as the home of golf, and the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews controls the rules under which the game is played throughout the world. Yet, Teacher's Scotch Information Centre blushes to admit, golf is not really a Scottish game at all.

Hitting a ball about goes back as a pastime into the mists of time. But the theory of how the game came to Scotland and was developed there goes back a few hundred years to the days when there was a thriving trade between Scotland and Holland.

Small Dutch boats would cross the North Sea bringing all manners of goods, but particularly spirits, to Scotland. The little town of St. Andrews was a favourite landfall and Dutch skippers would bring their barques up on the beach there.

After the ship was unloaded and there was time for skipper and crew to rest and refresh themselves, the Dutchmen would play a game they called "kolf" This consisted of picking up a suitable pebble from the beach and hitting it with a stick across sand and grass towards the nearest hostelry.

The man who took the fewest hits was judged the winner and the others had to buy him drinks. The Scots who saw the Dutchmen play this rudimentary game took it up as well and transformed "kolf" into the golf we know today.

Fishing License Sales Showing Decline

With a little more than three months left in the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's fiscal year which ends August 31, the sale of fishing licenses for the fiscal year has declined by some 121,000 over the past year.

License sales officials at the department say the decline in sales is probably due to the fact that as of last September a fishing license is valid for one year from the date of issuance.

"Most fishermen are probably waiting until August to buy their licenses," sad one P&W official, "that way their license will be good through next July."

Through April, only 680,788 fishing licenses had been sold compared to a total of 802,500 during fiscal year 1973-74.

Resident combination hunting license sales increased from 410,998 in fisaal year 1973-74 to 463,173 through April of this fiscal year.

Bentsen Raps Ford On Rural

Senator Lloyd Bentsen, candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination, today accused the Ford Administration of treating Americans who live in rural areas as second class citizens by failing to implement the Rural Development Act.

Bentsen, who co-sponsored the Rural Development Act in 1972, said, "The present administration is neglecting the needs of millions of Americans who live in rural areas. It is trying to create a second class citizenry who will lack adequate fire protection, water and waste disposal systems, and employment opportunities."

He said the administration spent $56 million out of a total $397 million authorized by Congress for Fiscal year 1975.

No money was spent for planning grants for water and waste disposal project, rural fire prosecution grants and planning grants for rural development, Bentsen said.

"This has been a consistent pattern of recent Republican administration," Bentsen said. "Over the last three years only 11 percent of the total funds authorized by Congress have been spent."

"Rural areas and small towns are part of the American heritage and must not be forgotten now."

Batter up!
There are times when you just know you'll get a hit—until you swing and miss that third strike!
Success is never certain in this world—even to the fellow with confidence written all over his face.
Frequently, achievement comes with giving your best when you're not convinced your best will be enough.
Religion cannot guarantee success to any man.
It promises all men the spiritual impetus to realize their best.
When you come to church next Sunday, you'll gain a deeper understanding of your virtues and of your faults.
Such understanding—with God's help and God's forgiveness—inspires us to give our best to every challenging opportunity.

Napoleon must have needed the money. Bad.
Because a mere $15 million bought us Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Montana, most of Minnesota and parts of Wyoming and Colorado.
And Americans pitched in to buy it all. Through the purchase of a United States issue of 6% certificates.
So you see, taking stock in America paid off back then. As it can for you now.
Just join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. There's no easier, safer way to automatically build your savings.
Or buy Bonds where you bank.
U.S. Savings Bonds.
They'll help you avoid any Waterloos.

Now E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4½% the first year). Lost, stolen or destroyed Bonds can be replaced if records are provided. When needed, Bonds can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.
